Regulation of Natural Products – a GA eSeminar series

GA's next eSeminar on the regulation of natural products is covering the topic of Phytomedicines in children, based on real world experience. Lecturers are three physicians

- Univ.-Doz. DDr. Ulrike Kastner, Vienna, Austria, on reducing antibiotics use by applying phytomedicines
- Prof. Dr. Karin Kraft, Rostock, Germany, on pediatric data from one of the largest non interventional studies on phytomedicines worldwide, the PhytoVIS study
- Dr. Tieraona Low Dog, Pecos, US, on the pediatric use of botanicals.

GA's next eSeminar on the regulation of natural products is covering the topic of Phytomedicines in children, based on real world experience.

For natural products, there is a multitude of regulatory pathways and different approaches globally. GA, the Society for Medicinal Plants and Natural Product research, steps in a series of lectures on Regulatory Affairs for (traditional) herbal medicinal products, herbal food supplements (so called botanicals), and substance-based medical devices, with leading experts from industry, authorities and academia worldwide as lecturers. The aim is to help in differentiating the different market niches for herbal products in the countries of this world and to reveal pros and cons of the categories. Part A, B and C of the eSeminar, started in autumn 2021, gave an overview of the regulation of mainly supply and quality of the products from different regulatory pathways. With part D, the scope is widened to also more general topics.
